arrived

i have been twice delivered twice shattered
twice
unknown held my hand in the wake coursed uncertain through the shrapnel of my leave
plunged through vessels
drained to bone
pooled
starved
taken into dust

and then

lifted

and
then

swept

into

the

sun

k. a. odegard
june 2006